

Desde las aguas pantanosas del Yangtse y los desaseados cuartos interiores del Salon del Esplendor Eterno hasta el estridente encanto del Shanghai anterior a la guerra y el Paris bohemio de los anos veinte, para volver de nuevo a una China desgarrada por la guerra civil y los albores de la revolucion, esta novela cuenta la historia de Pan Yuliang, una de las mas talentosas -y provocadoras- figuras del arte chino del siglo XX. Jennifer Cody Epstein se interna en el mundo de la mujer que habia detras de los autorretratos desnudos inspirados en Cezanne, e imagina con lujo de detalle su vida en un burdel y como concubina de un oficial de la republica que, por amor, finalmente le ofrecera una vida distinta y la ayudara a descubrir a la artista que habia en su interior. Dejandose llevar por la corriente de los acontecimientos historicos, La pintora de Shanghai nos ofrece el relato de un desafio que conduce a la fama, la celebridad y, por fin, a una terrible eleccion: entre el mundo del arte en Paris y la fidelidad al amor. / This book fictionalizes the life of Chinese painter Pan Yuliang. She is orphaned at a young age and later sold into prostitution by her uncle. She becomes the brothels top girl and soon snags the attention of customs inspector Pan Zanhua, who makes her his concubine. Zanhua sets her up in Shanghai, where she enrolls in the Shanghai Art Academy and early on struggles with life study.
